Vocation Lessons

An online curriculum supplement for schools, parishes, and youth ministry

Vianney Vocations
Vocation Lessons is focused not just on education, but formation. Well-crafted materials inspire students to discern God’s call to marriage, priesthood, or religious life. Boys and girls develop a deep appreciation of each vocation and gain the tools they need to discover God’s call in their own lives.

This unique curriculum supplement fits in easily with your existing education system—Catholic schools, religious education, and youth ministry—to “leaven” them with a very strong pro-vocations message. It’s a low-cost, long-term solution to create a culture of vocations in your diocese.

Our experienced educators have developed age-appropriate material for K-12 students. For example, first graders hear a light-hearted tale titled “Super Priest,” while sophomores read historical fiction on St. John Vianney.

BASIC FEATURES

- K-12 lessons offer in-depth coverage of Christian marriage, priesthood, religious life, and principles of discernment.
- Created for Catholic schools, religious education, and youth ministry.
- 100% online for instant distribution and low cost (includes printable PDFs).
- Catholic schools units include four lessons per grade (about a week’s worth of religion classes).
- Religious Education units include one lesson per grade (one class per year).
- Youth Ministry units include four options to span 2-4 years.
- Compelling lesson plans “teach teachers” about vocations.
- “Family Feature” spurs conversation among parents and children about God’s call.
- Created by Vianney Vocations and a team of top-notch Catholic educators.

WHY VOCATION LESSONS?

- Presents the priesthood & religious life as compelling and rewarding vocations
- Offers in-depth wisdom on choosing a spouse and building a strong marriage
- Complements existing education structures
- Works on smartboards, tablets & phones
- Strengthens the work of the Vocation Office
- Costs just pennies per student
- Easily accessible at VocationLessons.com
HIGHLIGHTS

The curriculum is mostly original material, but also includes links to carefully curated videos, artwork, and articles online.

Elementary

- Original, engaging stories with titles like “The Ladybug and the Priest” and “A Princess Becomes a Nun” teach children about the meaningful lives of priests and religious.
- Classic artwork such as “Institution of the Eucharist” by Fra Angelico.
- Fun activities to teach virtue and charity in family life.

Junior High

- In sixth grade, student homework is to create a video or audio recording for the kindergarten class explaining the different vocations.
- Video link to “A Day in the Life of a Priest”
- Eighth graders receive an age-appropriate primer on St. Ignatius’ discernment of spirits and write a creative “internal dialogue” about discerning one’s vocation.

High School

- Academically challenging excerpts from St. John Paul II, the Catechism, and other original source material.
- In tenth grade, students answer questions after visiting the web sites of the diocesan Vocation Office and religious orders.
- Students take a realistic look at the challenges and rewards of marriage, as well as the generous single life.
- “Tough Topics” section clearly and compassionately explains the Church’s teaching on homosexuality, contraception, divorce, and other important topics of our time.

Several lessons include creative role-play activities. For example, after learning about principles of discernment, a student counsels a friend who is considering religious life. In another scenario, two students play mom and dad as their son “breaks the news” that he is considering going to seminary. Seniors re-enact the rite of ordination, a solemn profession, and the marriage rite.

Vocation Lessons goes beyond academics to inspire students to follow Christ and become open to God’s call. For example, in 9th grade, worksheets help students to build a realistic “spiritual plan of life.” Several assignments require students to imagine their future lives as priests, religious, or committed spouses.
God Calls
- Objective: To begin listening to ways that God calls us.
- Is 43:1 "I have called you by name"

- Closing Prayer: The Magnificat

Assessment: Write a one-page story or essay to explain the concept of the universal call to holiness to second graders. ~or~ Watch one of the videos from Religious Orders and write your reaction to the video.

Family Feature: Teacher emails parents a link to a chapter from A Priest in the Family titled, “Why Would Anyone Want to Be a Priest?” to give a sense of the role and dignity of priests.

In the 8th Grade lesson on Religious Life, students read a real letter, written by a woman in her twenties, explaining to her brother her “crazy idea” of entering a cloistered community. Excerpt: “As I look at the decision I have made to give the religious life a try after this spring semester, it sometimes leaves me feeling scared, nervous, and excited all at the same time, and even doubtful at times. I can understand that a decision like this is very foreign to what you can understand and relate to. I wish I could explain to you exactly how I feel, but the only way I know how to even begin to explain to you how and why I feel the way I do is to compare it to marriage...”

About the High School Curriculum
1) The curriculum at the high school level is intensive and academically challenging. Teachers and students will sometimes need extensive preparation for the lessons. Most lessons include enough material that they can be spread over two or more classes if desired.

2) Instead of an assessment for the entire unit (as in grades K-8), homework is assigned after each lesson, to help the student delve more deeply into each vocation.

3) The Family Feature at the high school level is an optional email from the teacher to the students’ parents, containing a link to an interesting essay or video about vocations.

4) The lessons on priesthood include a note to teachers inviting them to form discernment groups for teenage boys as part of the Melchizedek Project (a ready-made program that includes free materials to guide discussion.)
Marriage
- Objectives: 1) develop a reverence for holy matrimony
  2) think clearly about the qualities of a future spouse
- Jer 1:4-8 “Before I formed you in the womb I knew you”

- Letter from St. Ignatius concerning the vow of obedience
- Homework: Research 1-2 religious orders and answer questions about their charism and life

Discernment
- Objective: to prepare students to complete a meaningful meditation on the vocation to which God may be calling them
- Mt 19:16-30 “If you wish to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven”
- Discussion: review highs and lows of each vocation
- Revisit most poignant stories from the unit
- Complete the “What Can I Live Without” meditation from To Save a Thousand Souls (modified for girls’ use also)

Family Feature: Teacher emails parents a link to a chapter from A Priest in the Family titled, “Why Celibacy?” to give a sense of how this sensitive topic is being addressed.

Writing assignments help students to think clearly about each vocation. They write about qualities to look for in a future spouse, what it would be like to be a priest, the charisms of various religious orders, etc.
Vocation Lessons

ELEVENTH GRADE

Marriage
- Objectives: 1) Learn the basic characteristics a person needs to succeed in marriage, 2) Review the process of being married in the Church
- John 2:1-11 The wedding feast at Cana

- Reading: the process of approaching various orders, applying, and making vows
- Video: Mother Teresa’s famous interview with Nodlaig McCarthy
- Optional reading: Excerpt from Michael Casey’s Strangers to the City
- Homework: Review your checklist, paying special attention to your lowest scores; or answer questions based on the optional readings.

Discernment
- Objective: 1) To examine the single state of life, as “a time of an especially intensive discovery of a self and a choice of life,” and 2) further identify characteristics of a person in various vocations
- 1 Jn 4:16-19 “There is no fear in love”
- Debate: Students work in teams to examine the characteristics of “mystery persons” and determine which vocations they were called to. Features St. Gianna Beretta Molla and St. Gabriel Possenti
- Optional reading: Excerpt from Simone Weil, “Reflections on the Right Use of School Studies with a View to the Love of God”
- Homework: Compare your checklists from the previous lessons. Express gratitude to God for strengths; consider practical ways to work on weaknesses.

Family Feature: Teacher emails parents a link to “How to Choose a Good Spouse” to show what the student is learning in class.

In 11th grade—the year during which many students are contemplating major life decisions—students learn about the process of getting married in the Church, how to apply to seminary, and how to investigate and join a religious community.
Marriage
- Objectives: 1) Familiarize students with remote preparation for marriage, and 2) To more deeply understand marriage by role-playing the marriage rite
- 1 Cor 13:4-7 “Love is patient, love is kind”
- Lecture and discussion: preparing for marriage now; the difference between falling in love and getting married
- Reading: "Preparing for Marriage Before you Meet Someone" (chaste dating, prayer life, etc.)
- Reading: "Preparing for Marriage After You Meet Someone" (consult family, examine right and wrong reasons for marriage, etc.)
- Role-play: Offer advice on dating and marriage
- Reading: Must-have Conversations with Someone You Are Dating
- Role-play: The Marriage Rite
- Optional Tough Topics: cohabitation, contraception, lifelong fidelity
- Homework: Write a letter to potential future spouse

Priesthood
- Objectives: 1) To help students respond to common objections to priesthood, 2) To more deeply understand priesthood by role-playing an ordination
- Luke 9:61-62 “First let me go and say farewell to my family at home”
- Lecture and discussion: Story of St. Alphonsus Liguori; How would you imagine friends and family would react if you had a call to the priesthood?
- Reading: How to prepare to “break the news” to family and friends
- Role-play: young man talks to parents about his interest in the priesthood (several variations)
- Role-play: students enact the Rite of Solemn Profession for the diocesan priesthood
- Optional Tough Topics: celibacy, male priesthood, the sexual abuse crisis
- Homework: Write a letter (mailing optional) to the Vocation Director asking questions and seeking advice; includes variation for girls, too

Religious Life
- Objectives: 1) To help students respond to common objections to religious life, 2) To more deeply understand religious life by role-playing a solemn profession
- Phil 3:8, 11-14 “I consider everything as a loss because of the supreme good of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord”
- Lecture and discussion: How would you imagine friends and family would react if you had a call to religious life?

Discernment
- Objectives: to give senior students parting advice about discerning God’s will for their lives
- Romans 8:24-27 “The Spirit too comes to the aid of our weakness.”
- Reading: Overcoming Four Fears (family background, personal sin, choosing the wrong vocation, fear of failure.)
- Optional Reading: Blessed Charles de Foucauld’s unlikely vocation story
- Reading: How will I really know my vocation? Includes 9 points of advice, drawn from St. Ignatius on discernment.
- If possible, students spend time before the Blessed Sacrament to complete the reading or start the homework
- Homework: write a letter to an imaginary younger student with your advice for discerning his or her vocation.

Family Feature: Teacher emails parent a link to “How Will I Really Know?”, an article about varying levels of certainty when discerning one’s vocation.
OUR TAKE ON COST

Why is Vocation Lessons relatively inexpensive? The primary reason is because our mission is to effectively address the vocation crisis, and so we want as many students as possible to seriously consider every vocation in the Church.

We understand that not every teacher and catechist will immediately use the curriculum; thus the pricing is so low that the diocese can purchase it for them anyway, knowing that you will be inviting them to use it for years to come. In the long term, we think this is a better approach than trying to elicit buy-in from each parish or school individually.

Most dioceses spend about $35,000 annually for one seminarian. To purchase Vocation Lessons, a medium-sized diocese would spend $5,300, with an annual maintenance fee of $795.

HOW TO IMPLEMENT

When you purchase Vocation Lessons, we’ll create access codes for your teachers and students to login to the web site. Printed materials are available that introduce teachers and catechists to the curriculum and explain how to use it.

Implementing Vocation Lessons is an opportunity for collaboration between the Vocation Office and other diocesan departments, including Catholic Schools, Religious Education, and Youth Ministry. We believe a concerted effort is warranted to ensure robust formation on how to discern God’s call.
